HONGRONG, JANUARY SOTH, 1907

IP Peking has been quite in earnest in endeavouring to introduce reforms in the administration of Government in China, it must be confessed that the results so far they have accumulated so gradually that vapour, and now not even a word is spokenneither Court nor Province has been sensible and now find themselves practically deprived | before permitting himself to be carried away of power to act independently. Speaking by sentiment looks at the mundame side of in the Roman Empire during the latter days attempt at its removal be accompanied by of the Republic, a writer remarks:

illegal requisitions, of systematic blackmailing, or straightforward robbery, was after all an evil were many such—was mitigated, if not removed. A far more serious defect in the system was that it rendered a comprehensive and consistent to the habit of opium smoking. They imperial policy impossible. Under it the provinces were not so much departments of one empire, as separate principalities, ruled by and virtually independent of the home govern-ment. Even within the limits of the single province one governor might undo what his predecessor had done. Neither a settled frontier policy, nor a proper adjustment of taxation, nor even a proper estimate and control of imperial expenditure was possible".

Without changing one word the sentence is true of China at the present day. One of the main factors in bringing about the abuses complained of, if not actually the paramount factor, was, of course, in both cases the distance of the provinces from the central administration, and the difficulty of intercommunication. Another equally active in both cases was the shortness of tenure of office, though in Rome this was more serious than in China. Its effect in both cases was similar in inducing the iolders of office to look upon the office itself as an appanage to be exploited and procured from the celebrated for the personal benefit of the holder. not the advantage of the province. On the other hand one great abuse which did not exist in Rome, is rampant in China, and more than anything else is effective in clogging the very first steps towards progress The Roman Senate, however corrupt it became in other respects, never made the appointment of a provincial officer an occasion for accepting bribes. In China the system of bribery, gradually reduced to a regular assessment, is actually the chief source of revenue of the central Government. As if this were not sufficient, the evil is aggravated by the fact that the eunuchs and chamberlains, who hang uselessly about the Court, are permitted to exact irregular vails of undefined amount from all candidates for high office, as preliminaries before attaining audiences. This, last is, however, the abuse of all others dearest to imperial: minds, and the mere suggestion that some change in the internal offices of the Palace might prove useful for the state, has recently more than once met with the resentment of the Dowager Empress. Indeed it scems possible that the loss of favour undergone by Yuen Shi-kai bimself was not remotely associated with a similar suggestion on his part. Now although reform here is urgently needed, he would be but a poor statesman who would attempt to tear up the roots of the evil plant without providing a practical substitute. No Chinese statesman of the fact, and this is another reason why the prosent agitation for reform has effected so little. There is no continuity in it, in fact, nor any attempt to bring any one thing to a practical issue before starting off on a new line altogeth r. Last year the cry was for representative government all through the Empire. Doubtless the Chinese character is quite capable of assimilating itself to such a sy-All letters for publication should be written on tem of government. In the guilds which permoate the country representative natives are accustomed to discuss affairs of state. and these institutions exercise a very wholesome influence in checking the beginnings of evil practices on the part of officials. But from the necessity of the case the action of the guilds is turned into obstructive rather than into constructive channels. This year the cry has assumed quite a different direction; the very same individuals who were before clamouring for a constitution, and holding forth representative government as the one thing needful, have been led off on a different, and equally impracticable track, and constitutional edicts have given place to anti-opium proclamatione. This want of ability to distinguish what is practicable from what is merely sentimental is in fact the great drawback of the native character which dominates and spoils his best intention, just as it was the blemish of the Pigtail Party at the last British elections. Our readers will remember in what a lighthearted manner the whole question are disappointing, and that the so-called of representative assemblies was taken up. reforms have been confined to mere and how one or two Imperial edicts were shufflings of the various executive branches, supposed to be efficient to bring about while the real abuses have been allowed to a change which would have entailed the accumulate. The reason is largely that the entire reorganisation of the whole system of worst of the abuses are those concerned government from the Emperor to the with the relations of the court to the village tipao. The whole thing resolved provinces, and the method of appointment | itself into talk, and nothing but talk of the of every official in the Empire. The abuses | most idle character, and when this was are of ancient growth and of long standing; exhausted the whole thing went off in The same process we see going on to-day of the fact, and so naturally that both have with regard to opium. Opium is a curse, almost of necessity been drawn into the net, | we may allow, but the practical statesman of very similar abuses which had grown up the matter; and asks himself may not the even worse evils? The greater we make "Extortion, whether it took the shape of the evil, the more difficult becomes the task of eradicating it. Some enthusiastic oppowhich under an honest governor-and there nents of opium in any form make out that some two out of every five men are addicted would propose to eradicate it by torcible

The practical statesman knows how little connection there is in nature between command and obedience. At the most there have three to carry out the order against two, but one of these is bound to be indifferent. if not bostile, so the machinery breaks down at the first attempt. But more than this, the practical statesman knows from bitter experience how dangerous is the attempt to forcibly interfere with any pra-tice indulged in by any considerable section of a community, and how even with the best intentions, interference is likely to engender still more dangerous and evil practices. In the case of opium the anti-opium agitation in the past has gone far towards engendering such an evil. The Chinese people were well enough content to exercise the opium habit in the way least prejudicial to their minds and bodies, and simply put it in their pipes and smoked it. The anti-opium reformers, to cure them of the habit, bught them swallow morphia pilis or give themselves bypodermic injections of the same alkali-We see the result already. Of course if taken in time the Chinese Government could with the willing concurrence of the Foreign Powers have prevented the importation of morphia, but the fad was not on them, and the opportunity was lost; now the attempt is like locking the gate after the stealing away of the steed. But even here the difficulties of the case do not end, for the economical aspect has grown of Imperial importance. The large and rich province of Szechwan owes in fact the greater part of its prosperity to its export of opium. Last year, and the amount was little more than the average, thirty-six thousand piculs of opium, value at least seven and a half million tacks, passed the custom houses at Ichang alone, in addition to large quantities conveyed Steavenson (of Messrs. Descon, Looker and through the passes, and in other ways well known to the Chinese trader. This is not all; Ichang only represents one of the regular routes, and large quantities, probably nearly as much as passed Ichang, went by the Wu River, crossed the portages into Hunan, and supplied largely the South. | defendants, sums amounting to $20,000 repay. day has risen to an understanding of the Other large quantities went over the northern passes into the valley of the Han. so that, as estimated many years ago, the annual opium export of the province amounts to something over a hundred thousand piculs | dates of such agreements until repayment. of a value of some 22 million tuels. The people who talk so glibly of reform, declined to pay the sum or any part and who would, to suit their own pre thereof. On the 9th and 22nd January, 1905, ance of the circumstances attending conceived fads, turn the world upside down, do not pause to consider any of these things, nor ponder what they are to substitute for them.

We do not talk in our present leader of the would-be financial reformers, not that the subject is in the interests of China unimportant, but that we have given a sufficient dose of advice for one day.

Certain American reformers, who talk England's sin against China in respect of opium, flatter themselves that their own country is clean handed. Kingsclere, the palatial building in Kennedy Road, designed as a residence for the late Mr. E. R. Belilios, but now opened by Mrs. Sachse. as a private botel, bids fair to become famous in the social life of the Colony if the dance given there on Monday night by the proprietress and guests is the precursor of many similar gatherings. Notwithstanding that it rained incossantly the whole evening, upwards of 250 ladies and gentlemen were present. The music was provided by the band of H. M.S. Kent, were injured. and the dance passed off with great success. There was ample accommodation for denoing in the hall, which is of bacquial proportions, and in the spacious dining room which was also use d for the purpose, refreshments being served in the lower of the two spacious galleries overlooking. the hall. Kingsclere was evidently designed with a view to such social entertainments, and the structural alterations which have just been completed have in no way interfered with this design, the modifications being rather in the direction of providing additional bedroom accommodation on the upper floors. There are now thirty-six bedrooms, and the whole establishment is furnished in a most attractive manner and in exquisite teste. "Billiards, tenniseroquet, putting green and fine stabling for horses," are among the advertised attractions of Kingsclere which has started its career as a private hotel very auspiciously.

The statement of claim set forth that on various dates between June 3rd, 1903, and February 7th, 1904, the plaintiffs lent to the able on demand, and on various dates between Notember 27th and December 23rd, 1904, it was agreed between the parties that the said loans should bear interest at the rate of $1.05 p r cent per Chinese month from the respective The plaintiffs frequently demanded payment the loans and interest, but the defendants the plaintiffs borrowed from the defendants $ 37,000 bearing interest from the said respective dates until repayment, and the defendants were entitled to set off the amount thus due to them. The claim was for the principal sum of $20,000 with interest till repsyment as aforesaid, less the principal amount of $7,000 with interest till repayment and such other relief as the Court thought fit. In the statement of defence the defendants admitted the plaintiffs' loan of various sums emounting to $20,000 repayable on demand. They also admitted that it was agreed the said loans should bear interest as mentioned and that plaintiffs had demanded payment, but denied Japan's unaggressive policy. that demands had been made frequently, and further said that as a matter of fact they had deposited with the plaintiffs a further sum of $20,000 on or about May 20th. 1903, such sum to bear interest at the rate of $1 per $100 per Chinese month. THE BLACK SQUALL.

INCIDENTS OF MONDAY'S STORM.

That comparatively unknown person in Hongkong, the old resident, has expressed the opinion that a storm like that of Monday has not been experienced in the Colony for over thirty years. The slarm which it occasioned, especially among the floating population, has not yet subsided, and even among the people ashore it is still the topic of conversation, reviving fading memories of the terrible typhoon of September last. Its tell of human lives is certainly greater than was at first anticipated. The police reports show that over seventy people are missing, but Chinese are sauguine that that by no means represents the total loss of life. It is interesting to note that most of those drowned were children, a fact which is self explanatory, though one veteran of 80 was amongst the victims. The returns show that up till yesterday there were 42 women and 29 men drowned.

Stories of gallant rescues still come to hand. P. S. Garrod was successful in saving several people from drowning by jumping into the water and assisting them ashers. P. C. Evans was also instrumental in effecting a number of rescues. An old man and woman each 76 years of age, were resound by the police in an exhausted condition and taken to the Government Civil Hospital. Ip Wan, a cook on board the launch "Bun Bun," picked up a man clinging to a piece of wood off the Naval Yard Extension. He had been washed from the Naval Yard. Tan Ping, coxswain of the steam launch "Marlow," rescued three men from the bottom of a fishing boat off Shek O, and found thirteen persons on an upturned lishing junk of Waglan lighthouse, whom he took off. No fewer than 19 cargo boats were upset and righted

The Chairman pointed out that the brass tablet to the memory of the late organist, Mr. A. G. Ward, had lately been erected under the window of the North transept.

The balance sheet was submitted, Dr. Clark the hon. treasurer explaining that the church in common with the rest of the community had suffered the past year from a lack of dollars. Their income had gone down somewhat. During the year they had spent $188 more than they had received, but fortunately they had a balance in hand which was more than sufficient to meet it. The increase in expenditure had been mainly in the direction of salaries, 8911 having been spent more in wages and salaries in 1906 than in 1905. They had also found it necessary to increase the insurance on the Cathedral in order to cover its full value. The only other increase as compared with last year was in special collections. During the year there had been six special collections as compared with three during 1905. The general fund suffered in consequence, being $171 less than in 1905. As a church body they would have to consider some means of slightly increasing the income or slightly reducing the expenditure. Their balance was now $2,495.

The report was adopted on the motion of the Hon. Dr. Atkinson.

The following six lay members were re-elected to the Church Body. Hon. Dr. Atkinson, Dr. Clark, Messrs. W. Armstrong, A. Bryer, G. Hastings and E. Ormiston, while Mr. J. C. Peter was re-appointed auditor.

The Rev. J. H. France submitted a report of the "Guarantee Scheme," saying, in part : During the year 1906 there was, in Hongkong, very little of that type of destitution for which the Guarantee Scheme was intended to provide. and the calls upon the guarantors were kin consequence fewer than in the previous year. In all five cases were dealt with, and only two lut of the number were seamen. These men leing of African blood could not be admitted to he Sailors' Home, and so an arrangement was made by which they were admitted to a boarding house in Lascar Row on the understanding that they were to receive European food. Employment was found for each of these men on a river steamer. Of the remaining three, one found employment and got away from the Colony, one was sent to Australia, whence he had come, Mesars. A statement signed Dorothy Hactings, Hon. Tressurer, showed that $2.205.71, was expended in relief, as against only $31 for administration costs. This left a balance in bank of $208.86. The Hon. Berkeley, Mesdames May, Hickling, Atkinson, Kruger, Badeley, Saunders, Thomson, Marcus Compertz, Hon. Dr. Atkinson and the Rev. C. H. Hickling. The CHAIRMAN (having read the report)-I think the Society is to be congratulated on the good work it has done during the past year, and I hope the Hongkong public will respond to more generous assistance. There is no doubt that this Society ought to be supported, and perhaps it is not supported as well as it should be. I trust that the publication of this report, and of the balance sheet showing how slender is the means now at the disposal of the Society, will have the effect of inducing members of the community to come forward with donations and adoption of the report and balance sheet Mrs. HASTINGS seconded the motion. Mr. HICKLING-May I ask, Sir, how many cases have come within the scope of the guarantee fund, and also what was the balance at the beginning of the year as compared with the balance at the end of last year?

The CHAIRMAN-The balance carried over from 1905 was $988.03, and there were five cases Mr. HICKLING said he would like, as the sole representative of a generous public, to support that the attendance of the public was never very large at annual meetings of societies of this kind, unless there was going to be a row. When things were going smoothly the public believed that the funds were being administered properly, and usually left the committee cererely alone at its annual meeting. Probably they were not equal to the strength of taking cut an umbrella that morning, and that had added to the pancity of the attendance, but there were points in the report, which as Mr. May had said, should regeneral public. Although the Society was crippled by the payment of so many passages, it had saved the community a very considerable amount of trouble in cases of which he knew, in which recple, perhaps foolishly, had brought themselves into the position of being dollarless in this Colony: If such people had been sllowed to continue here they would inevitably have lost their self respect, and would have gone into the ranks of the destitute very speedily. He believed sending such persons home meant sending them to those who would undertake to help better ones. DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES.

Yesterday was prize-giving day at Stephen's College, Hongkong, and interested attendance of ladies and gentlemen was present to witness the proceedings. The Colonial Becretary (Hon. Mr. F. H. May) was announced to preside and distribute the prizes, but a prior engagement compelled him to be absent. The Ven. Archdescen Bannister occupied the chair and was supported by His Excellency Wu Tirg Fang, and the Rev. E. J. Barnett, while among those present were the Hon. Dr. Ho Kai, Rev. J. H. France, Rev. Dr. Pearce, Rev. G. A. Bunbury, Brother Silvester, Mr. S. W. Tso, and Dr. Wilder,

The Warden read the annual report in which after a sympathetic reference to the late Bishop Heare, it was stated that during the past year, the fourth of their existence, there had been 133 scholars in attendance. To meet the requirements of those who were looking forward to a University career classes had been added in Mechanics. Hydrostatics, Political Economy and Latin. With the alteration and re-erection of outbuildings during the mid-summer holidays it was found possible to fit up a temporary laboratory in which the three highest forms were receiving their first lessons in Physics and Chemistry, subjects which were popular. Physical drill had been in abeyance through sundry untoward circumstances. Nevertheless recreation had received its due attention. ? he playground had been improved and enlarged by about one-fourth. In April College sports were held and appreciated. boys' steady practice in cricket had for first time been rewarded with a fair share of success In the final examinations just closed the tests had been fairly severe in the several forms, and there had been keen competition for the higher positions. A scrutiny of the figures revealed the fact that (including the sometime absent boys) 25 per cent of the whole school failed to obtain an average of 50 marks; just 25 per cent. gained over an average of 75 marks, and the other 50 per cent of the boys passed between these extremes. The tests applied, except in the very lowest classes, was an examination in ten written subjects, resulting as follows :- Chau Kwan Lam stands Dux of the College with 80. per cent. In the V Form two boys tied for first place with 81 per cent, viz: Fung Man Sui and Wan Yik Shing. A similar incident, illustrating the kernness of the contest, occurred in Form IV. Chan Chung Yat and Cheun; Fushum dividing the honours of premier postion with 79 per cent. Taam Ting Wing, with 84, and Chan Tsz Wai bracketed with Lau Ting In (75 per cent) stand first in Forms IA & IB respectively. After allowance had been made for the fact that the foregoing were records of their own exeminations, they could not but regard the result as indicating honest work both by mesters and boys They were reminded by His Excellency, S: Matthew Nathan, twelve menthage, that S Stephen's College had not yet seen any of its scholars through the Oxford Senior Examira. tion. The reminder was doubtless both necessary and salutary. To-day this requirement had been satisfied. When but two years and a half in existence the College passed two boys in the Junior and one in the Preliminary section At the end of three and a half years, in July last,-the Juniors of last year were advanced into the rank of Seniore, while two others passed the Junior and three the Preliminary stage, seven in all, and all Chinese. In equipping themselves for the work and business of life they must not limit themselves to western knowledge but equip themselves in i so complete,—from the elaborately composed thesis in Chinese to a studied disregard of the ancient classics, and to an indifference concerning knowledge of the mother tongue they might expect, and perhaps wish for some reaction. Yet the most conservative cannot hope that such subjects as those mentioned above would ever fail to find a place in the country's government examinations. The men who were to help in the development of China were the men whom China needed, and as they had opportunity it semed their duty to prepare those under their care along the line which should be best bothfor themselves and the cause they hoped to

The teaching staff was strengthened at the beginning of the year by the addition of Mr. A. L. Nairn, B.A., and in May by the arrival of Mr. G. A. Hancock, B.A., who was followed by Mrs. Hancock in September. Miss Williams also joined after the mid-summer holidays. On the other hand, Mr. Lewis Byrne, M.A., who kindly delayed his holiday for six months to suit their convenience sailed for home in July. Miss Fletcher, who had given her service for three years, found it necessary to resign that she might transfer her help to another department. Mr. W. E. L. Harkness was called away last month somewhat suddenly on private affairs, and they would be pleased if he were able to resume his position in the College. Meanwhile they heard by telegram that another master was leaving Melbourne about this time to take charge of form IV. Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Ng Tin Po continued at their posts. The staff included six I nglish and three Chinese masters. The Council's thanks for donations were tendered to the Hon. Dr. Ho Kai, C.M. G. The Hon. Mr. Wei Yuk, Dr. Wan Juen Mo. Messes, S.W. Tso, Wei On, Lo Cho Sun, Lo Pan Kei, Chan Chiu Fung, Yau Shui, Chau Siu Ki, Wong Sui Lung, Chan King Ting, Fung Shui Sam, Chan Kam Wing, Lau Chin Ting, Wong Wing Chiu, Cheng Wo Hin, Ng Pak To, Lo Shuet Po, Cheng Man Po, Cheung On Lan. The never-failing thoughtfulness of the Chinese parents and guardians had always been a source of encouragement to them.

Archdeacon Bonnister said that he thought it was only right to tell them before the prizes were awarded that they were disappointed in one or two directions. They were disappointed at the weather and they were disappointed at, and deeply regretted the absence of His Excellency the Governor who had written expressing his regret. His letter read: Dear Mr. Barnett,-Mr. Fletcher has handed me your letter of the 27th Llecember and I am desired by His Excellency the Governor to inform you that in view of the multiplicity of the engagements for the near future he does not therefore regrets he will not be able to have the pleasure of attending St. Stephen's prize-giving. They deeply regretted that. They had hoped that instead of His Excellency taking the chair that they would have been able to have welcomed a great friend of that institution in the person of the Colonial Secretary, the Hon. Mr. F. H. May, but his letter explained that when he had promised to take the chair at St. Stephen's he had overlooked the fact that the meeting of the Benevolent Society at which he had also promised to preside took place at the same hour. He expressed his regret for the inconvenience which this would cause. They all regretted Mr. May's absence. There was snother cause for regret that the prizes had not arrived. They were somewhere on the way between Singapore and Hongkong and would be here in the course of a few days. The successful competitors would receive certificates for their work and also for the distinctions in the Oxford Examina- all agree with me. (Applause).

The Ven. Archdeacon then presented the prizes; and afterwards made a few remarks. They had bad, he said, a demonstration of the work that St. Stephen's College was doing in the education and the intellectual progress of the Chinese young men of Hongkong, and although he was a member of the governing body of the College he felt it right to congratulate the masters and the students on the excellent show they made after only four years' existence as a collegiate institution (Applause). The work, he knew from personal observation, indicated the determination of the masters and the students to excel in the lines of education that had been adopted for that college (applause). The whole world was interested in observing the Mongoliu on nine months' leave of absence, after progress of Western learning in the Chinese Empire, and it was hoped that as the years went past and as that institution became more stable in its positions that it would take an ever increasing and a greater part in the work of | held many acting appointments in the Hongadvancing Western education amongst the Chizese young men of Hongkong. He did not wish to say anything in praise of that education. It had come to be recognised in the East that the advance of the Asiatic nations must be in along that path. If the nations of the East were to stand side by side in the service and work the world then they must, to a certain extent be of that year. From 1904 he again occupied the equipped by means of Western education. The whole world had observed the progress of Japan. China and her people have been noting the position that Japan has reached along this pathway and as far as he could read the intelligent and capable official Mr. Sercombe signs of the times the Chinese nation and the Chicese youth were determined acquire the best in Western learning in order that they might better maintain the great history of their people. (Applause) Preceeding, he said the boys of that college were as keen in their intellectual development as in the physical. Referring to the need for an enlarged building, he said they must look to the co-operation of the parents and their Chinese friends who were so liberal for the completer equipment of that institution. AN APPEAL.

THE SISTERS who direct St. Antonio's _____ Convent at Macao will be very thankful to Shop-keepers, Linen-drapers, Clothiers and Tailors in Hongkeng, Macao, and elsewhere who will send to them remnants of material, books of patterns no longer used, and any pieces of cloth, no matter how small, of which they cannot make use. Those who send will thus, at no cost to themselves, afford the numerous hands in the convent, especially the little ones, opportunity for useful occupation; for pieces of cloth, even of a square inch, can be stitched together and very pretty pieces of work made out of cloth, that would otherwise be thrown away. These articles are bought by charitable persons and the Sisters are thus helped to keep up their very large establishment, which is maintained by the alms of friends and in a great measure by the earnings of the girls themselves, who lead by no means an idle life within the convent

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY

Ima successful and highly popular remedy, used in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Roston, Johert, Velpeas and others, combines all the desiderata to be sought in a medicine of the kind, and surpasses everything hitherto THERAPION NO.1 in a re-short time, often a few days only, removes all discharges from short time, often a few days only, removes all discharges from the urinary organs, effectually superseding injections, the use of which does irreparable harm by laying the foundation of stricture and other serious diseases. In dysentery, piles, writation of the lower bowel, cough, bronchitis, asthma, and some of the more trying complaints of this kind, it will be found astonishingly efficacious, affording prompt relief where other well-tried remedies have been powerless.

THERAPION NO. 2 for important prompt and swellings of the joints, secondary symptoms, gout, rheumatism.

lings of the joints, secondary symptoms, gout, theumatism, and all diseases for which it has been too much a fashion to employ mercury, sarraparilla, &c., to the destruction of sufferers' teeth and ruin of health. This preparation purifies the whole system through the blood, and thoroughly climinates every poisonous matter from the body.

exhaustion, impaired vitality, sleeplessness, and all the distressing consequences of early error, excess, residence in hot, unhealthy climates, &c. It possesses surprising power o restoring strength and vigor to the debilitated. THERAPION is sold by the prin-derchants throughout the world. Price in England 2/9 & 1/6. Is ordering, state which of the three numbers is required, and observe above Trade Mark, which is a facsimile of word "Therapion" as it appears on the British Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Homo Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery.
